

IEP Meeting Facilitator Coaching

Key2Ed offers training for coaches to provide one-to-one support for IEP Facilitators. This ensures that their facilitation skills are at the highest level of effectiveness for the IEP team. Coaches can act as a resource to IEP facilitators in their school agency, to encourage consistent and ongoing implementation of IEP Facilitation.

Key2Ed's Coaching model will train key district staff members to assist with sustainability of the Key2Ed IEP Facilitation Model. The coach will be trained in the FIEP concepts as well as advanced skills in coaching. Key2Ed staff will work closely and individually with each coach to reinforce learning and mentor him or her through their facilitation activities.

Key2Ed's coaching model provides training and support to the district facilitation coaches through four phases. These include:

- collaboration between Key2Ed trainers and district administration to identify the facilitation coaches,
- advanced training in IEP facilitation for the coaches,
- a specific one-day training on coaching provided by Key2Ed staff,
- actual coaching of facilitators, with targeted feedback and support from Key2Ed staff

Certification of coaching does not certify candidate to be a facilitated IEP trainer.
