

LOURDES SMITH, M.A., PH.D.

SENIOR CONSULTANT

Lourdes has almost 20 years of experience working in education from elementary to higher education settings. She is currently working as a bilingual school psychologist in a diverse, urban school district. She is a train the trainer for NASP through Arizona Department of Education and is actively involved in many parent groups for children identified with disabilities.

Resides in Arizona

As both a parent of a child with a disability and an experienced psychologist, Lourdes is dedicated to empowering students by fostering strong, positive family-school partnerships. As Helen Keller once said, "Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much."

"Amazing and effective communicator. Learned so much and value all the info provided during this training." -M.B, Arizona
